

Trepca's Mine in the Region of Stan-Terg during WWII

Mustafë Haziri

Abstract

In this study I have explained the economical importance of Trepca Mine in the region of Stan-Terg which is considered as one of the most important mines in Europe and which today is the biggest economical source of Kosovo.

Based on some historical and economical developments it is noticed that this mine was so attractive for the weapon industries, and about 40 % of all products were sent by Trepca to the German factories. In general Trepca was an important factor of international, economical and political relationship, as an important strategic source.

Keywords: Kosovo, Trepça's mine, history- politics, economy, Balkan.
