

Perceptions, faith and conviction of the public in the Kosovo Police

Andi Morina

SEEU, North Macedonia

Ejup Beti

SEEU, North Macedonia

Abstract

This research entitled in which the main focus will be research, perceptions, beliefs and beliefs of the citizens of Kosovo in the Kosovo Police, is divided into two parts, the theoretical part which will address the concept of perception, attitudes, beliefs of the opinion in the security institution (Kosovo Police) while in the empirical part will be discussed, analyzed the findings from the study conducted by a survey conducted with citizens of the Republic of Kosovo regarding with their perceptions, attitudes and beliefs on the work, those responsible at work, as well as the performance of the Kosovo Police, an institution whose primary role is security, public peace, as well as the protection of freedom and rights of the citizens of Kosovo. The study is of descriptive-descriptive character, inductive-deductive realized as a case study to measure, test, evaluate the perceptions of the citizens of the country. The sample was selected through a selective method, taking a random sample. The purpose of the research is to identify valid scientific data for an analytical analysis, on the perceptions, beliefs and convictions of citizens in security institutions, Kosovo Police, for data processing was used a combined methodology, quantitative - qualitative, which aimed to answer these basic questions raised in this research, such as: Citizens' perceptions, citizens' attitudes as well as citizens' beliefs on the work, work engagement and performance of the Kosovo Police, in the fight against organized crime, as well as the realization of peace and public safety. The sample is representative of the demographic composition of Kosovo. Using the probability sample, the sample error margin is 2.45%. After collecting the working data the findings are tabulated statistically processed, tabular and cross-tabular data form the basis of the research. Respondents were asked about their perceptions, attitudes and beliefs in the Kosovo Police. The research was conducted in five cities, settlements of Kosovo, through the instrument of the Survey (questionnaire) with which the assessment was made, and recording the perceptions of citizens, beliefs, judgments, attitudes, and the role and performance of the Kosovo Police. The survey is based on a sample of 100 respondents, citizens of the Republic of Kosovo. The results of the research show that public perceptions of the Kosovo Police have negative tendencies, based on previous studies.

Keywords: perceptions, beliefs, attitudes, prejudices, judgments.

Full Text: PDF

This work is licensed under Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 License.

European Journal of Economics, Law and Social Sciences ISSN 2519-1284 (print) ISSN
2510-0429 (online)

Copyright © IIPCCCL-International Institute for Private, Commercial and Competition law